

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

For More Information, Contact:

Daniela Castillo, Marketing Communications Coordinator
Robinson & Cole LLP
(860) 541-2717, dcastillo@rc.com

Attorney Advertising

Robinson & Cole Shows Commitment to Community, Diversity, and Education at Special “To Kill a Mockingbird”
Reception at Hartford Stage

HARTFORD, CT (March 20, 2009) – The law firm of Robinson & Cole recognized its sponsorship of the University of Connecticut School of Law/Robinson & Cole Summer Law Institute, a partnership with the Hartford Public Schools, at a reception for the Hartford Stage performance of “To Kill a Mockingbird” on March 4, 2009.

During the reception, Robinson & Cole presented a check for $20,000 to those involved, as part of the firm’s three-year, $60,000 commitment to support the Summer Law Institute. The Summer Law Institute is an academic enrichment program for Hartford youth entering their second year of Hartford Public High School’s new Academy of Law and Government. The program is designed to encourage racially and economically diverse students to consider and plan for careers in the legal field.

Robinson & Cole is also a production sponsor of “To Kill a Mockingbird” at the Hartford Stage.

Press Release
Page 2
March 20, 2009

Left to right back row: Dr. Steven Adamowski, Superintendent, Hartford Public Schools; Eric Daniels, Managing Partner, Robinson & Cole; Jeremy Paul, Dean, University of Connecticut School of Law; John Lynch, Partner, Robinson & Cole; and Michael Stotts, Managing Director, Hartford Stage

Left to right front row: Professor Jennifer Mailly, Director of the Summer Law Institute and Director of the Academic Success Program at UConn's Law School; Jacqueline Pennino Scheib, Partner, Robinson & Cole; Keisha Palmer, student, University of Connecticut School of Law; and Adam Johnson, Principal, Law and Government Academy, Hartford Public Schools

Founded in 1845, Robinson & Cole has over 260 attorneys and over 250 professional staff in eight offices to serve regional, national, and global business clients in multiple practice areas, as well as governmental and nonprofit entities. Further information is available at rc.com.

###

280 Trumbull Street, Hartford, CT 06103