David Bogan Honored as One of the “First 100”
by the Connecticut Coalition Against Domestic Violence

Hartford, CT (October 10, 2011) – The Connecticut Coalition Against Domestic Violence (CCADV) honored environmental and utilities partner David W. Bogan as one of the “First 100” male leaders in Connecticut to make a commitment to ending domestic violence in the state. While the “First 100” have varied backgrounds and professions, they all contribute to making a difference either statewide or in their communities and stand committed to assisting CCADV with raising awareness of the availability of, and access to, domestic violence services. Mr. Bogan was also the first recipient of CCADV’s “President’s Award” in 1995 for work he did on behalf of CCADV.

“David Bogan exemplifies the type of leader and voice that is so critical to victims of domestic violence in Connecticut,” said Karen Jarmoc, interim executive director for CCADV. “David has been a tremendous advocate by volunteering his time to assist the Connecticut Coalition Against Domestic Violence as we work collaboratively to make a meaningful difference in people’s lives.”

The “First 100” honorees were recognized by United States Senator Richard Blumenthal, chair of the initiative, at a breakfast ceremony at the Crowne Plaza in Cromwell on Wednesday, September 28, 2011. CCADV also recognized Speaker of the House Christopher Donovan with the “Coalition Crusader” honor for his work to establish the Speaker’s Task Force on Domestic Violence.
