Robinson & Cole Attorney Admitted to American College of Trial Lawyers

Hartford – April 4, 2008 – Stephen E. Goldman has become a Fellow of the American College of Trial Lawyers, one of the premier legal associations in America.

The induction ceremony where Stephen E. Goldman became a Fellow took place recently before an audience of approximately 700 persons during the recent 2008 Spring Meeting of the College in Tucson, Arizona.

Founded in 1950, the College is composed of the best of the trial bar from the United States and Canada. Fellowship in the College is extended by invitation only, and only after careful investigation, to those experienced trial lawyers who have mastered the art of advocacy and whose professional careers have been marked by the highest standards of ethical conduct, professionalism, civility and collegiality. Lawyers must have a minimum of fifteen years of trial experience before they can be considered for Fellowship.

Membership in the College cannot exceed one per cent of the total lawyer population of any state or province. There are currently approximately 5,675 members in the United States and Canada, including active Fellows, Emeritus Fellows, Judicial Fellows (those who ascended to the bench after their induction) and Honorary Fellows.

The College strives to improve and elevate the standards of trial practices, the administration of justice and the ethics of the trial professions. Qualified lawyers are called to Fellowship on the College from all branches of trial practice. They are carefully selected from among those who customarily represent plaintiffs or defendants in civil cases as well as those who prosecute or defend the accused in criminal cases. The College is thus able to speak with a balanced voice on important issues affecting the legal profession and the administration of justice.

Stephen E. Goldman is a partner in the firm of Robinson & Cole LLP and has been practicing for over 27 years. The newly inducted Fellow is an alumnus of New York University School of Law.

Founded in 1845, Robinson & Cole has more than 220 attorneys and over 250 professional staff in eight offices who serve regional, national, and global business clients in traditional practices such as insurance and litigation, corporate, financial services, intellectual property, utilities, environmental, land use, and real estate development.
