Lawyers Volunteer through Junior Achievement at Parkville Community School

HARTFORD, CT (December 30, 2009) – Attorneys from the law firm of Robinson & Cole recently volunteered on behalf of Junior Achievement (JA) of Southwest New England, Inc. to teach students at Parkville Community School in Hartford as part of “Robinson & Cole/Junior Achievement Day.”

This is the third year Robinson & Cole has organized a group of volunteers to participate in a JA program in the Hartford area. The volunteer team taught 60 students in grades K-2. Since 2007, Robinson & Cole attorneys have taught over 400 students at Hartford elementary schools through the firm’s involvement with JA.

Robinson & Cole attorney and JA Board member Christine Bromberg spearheaded the recruiting efforts within Robinson & Cole. Robinson & Cole’s volunteers were Scott Sebastian, Matthew Spaeder, Alyssa Norwood, Keisha Palmer, and Laura Torchio. The firm hopes to stay actively involved with JA and plans to send attorneys to teach at another Hartford-area school in the spring.

About Junior Achievement

Junior Achievement is a nonprofit organization with 495 offices around the world whose mission is to inspire and prepare elementary, middle and high school students to succeed in a global economy. JA of Southwest New England served more than 29,000 students in seven Connecticut counties with the help of more than 1,900 volunteers from businesses and the community in the 2008-2009 school year. JA uses hands-on experiences to help young people understand the business of life. JA prepares students to make responsible choices through programs about entrepreneurship, work readiness, and financial literacy.
