Two Women Partners Elected to Robinson & Cole's Managing Committee

Hartford – May 1, 2007 – The law firm of Robinson & Cole LLP is pleased to announce that partners Alice E. DeTora and Pamela K. Elkow have been elected to serve on the firm's managing committee, each for a two-year term.

“We are extremely pleased with the partnership's decision to elect Alice and Pam in leadership positions that will help guide the direction of the firm's overall strategic mission, as well as help with our continued efforts in improving client service,” comments Managing Partner Eric Daniels.

Alice E. DeTora, representing the Hartford office, is chair of the Labor, Employment, Immigration and Benefits Section. She focuses her practice on employer counseling in all areas of employment relations law, including discharge and discrimination issues, personnel policies, immigration, and workplace health and safety issues.

“Alice’s commitment to the firm has been remarkable over her 22 years at Robinson & Cole. Her dedication to excellence and her knowledge of the law has helped our Immigration practice grow and has led us to become the preferred provider for several Fortune 100 and 500 companies,” states Daniels.

Pamela K. Elkow, resident in the Stamford office and representing the Metropolitan New York offices, is co-chair of the firm’s Environmental Practice Group, and focuses her environmental practice on the voluntary remediation and redevelopment of brownfields; transactional environmental issues; compliance counseling; federal, state, and municipal permitting; and federal and state enforcement.

“Pam’s involvement as chair of the firm’s Pro Bono Committee and leadership role within her Practice Group has been an inspiration to many attorneys in the firm, illustrating the importance of giving back to our communities while still providing great service to the firm’s clients. She has raised the bar firmwide for attorney’s individual commitment to pro bono services,” states Daniels.

Robinson & Cole’s Managing Committee is the firm’s governing body and consists of the Managing Partner and four partners, all of whom are elected by the entire partnership. The members consist of representatives from the Hartford, Boston, and Metropolitan New York offices and of partners-at-large. The Committee has responsibility for day-to-day matters such as development and execution of firm policies, strategic planning, standards of practice, finance, associate matters including training and assignment, practice planning and branch office coordination.

Founded in 1845, Robinson & Cole has more than 200 attorneys and over 250 professional staff in seven offices, who serve regional, national, and global business clients in traditional practices such as corporate, financial services, intellectual property, utilities, environmental, land use, real estate development, insurance, and litigation.
