Robinson & Cole Attorney inducted into American College of Trial Lawyers

HARTFORD, CT (March 9, 2010) – Robinson & Cole is pleased to announce that Craig A. Raabe has been inducted as a Fellow of the American College of Trial Lawyers, widely considered to be the premier professional organization of trial lawyers in the United States and Canada. The induction ceremony, where Mr. Raabe recently became a fellow, took place before an audience of approximately 800 attendees during the 2010 Spring Meeting of the College in Palm Springs, California.

A partner with Robinson & Cole since 1995, Mr. Raabe has tried many complex civil and criminal cases in state and federal courts. After clerking for the Hon. Arthur H. Healey at the Connecticut Supreme Court, Mr. Raabe joined the firm in 1989, and has spent his entire career in private practice at Robinson & Cole.

About the American College of Trial Lawyers

Founded in 1950, the College is composed of members of the trial bar from the United States and Canada. Fellowship in the College is limited to the top one percent of the total lawyer population of any state or province. Fellowship status is extended by invitation only, after careful investigation, to those experienced trial lawyers who have mastered the art of advocacy and whose professional careers have been marked by the highest standards of ethical conduct, professionalism, civility and collegiality. Lawyers must have a minimum of 15 years of trial experience before they may be considered for Fellowship. For more information, visit www.actl.com.

Founded in 1845, Robinson & Cole has 250 attorneys and 250 professional staff in nine offices to serve regional, national, and global business clients in multiple practice areas, as well as individual clients and governmental and nonprofit entities. Further information is available at rc.com.
