Robinson & Cole Welcomes Summer Interns from Boys & Girls Clubs of Hartford

Hartford — August 8, 2008 — Robinson & Cole recently offered summer internships to three high school students from the Greater Hartford area. The students worked at the firm throughout the summer, providing support to various administrative departments such as Records, Office Services, and the Library.

Robinson & Cole works together with the Boys and Girls Clubs of Hartford to provide an internship opportunity to high school age youth in the area. The internship involves the youth interns being coached on completing a job application, interviewing, and then working in the firm during the summer. The experience exposes the youth to what it is like to work in a corporate environment and provides mentoring by attorneys and staff in the firm. This year's three summer interns from the Boys & Girls Clubs of Hartford are Andre Campbell, Liz Figueroa, and Kordell Hinds.

The firm is able to accomplish this internship program largely through Lisa Boyle, partner and cochair of the firm's Health Law Group, and her involvement with the Boys & Girls Clubs of Hartford.
