Robinson & Cole Partner Elected to Board of Trustees for The Children's Museum

Hartford — August 5, 2008 — The law firm of Robinson & Cole is pleased to announce that Intellectual Property and Technology Law Partner Jacqueline Scheib was recently elected to the Board of Trustees for The Children's Museum. Ms. Scheib's term will run through 2010.

Jacqueline Scheib primarily practices in the area of intellectual property and technology law, including counseling on technology licensing and development, outsourcing, system acquisitions, and technology maintenance and servicing agreements.

She is an active member of several professional organizations including the Business Section's Cyberspace Law Committee of the American Bar Association (ABA) and the International Trademark Association's Information Resources Committee. In 2006, Ms. Scheib was recognized by the Hartford Business Journal as one of the winners of the "40 Under Forty" award.

Ms. Scheib graduated, with honors, from the University of Connecticut School of Law and received her B.A. from Franklin and Marshall College. Prior to joining Robinson & Cole, she clerked for the Connecticut Supreme Court.

About The Children's Museum

With its roots in science education dating back nearly 125 years, The Children's Museum was formally organized in 1927. In West Hartford, at its Roaring Brook Nature Center in Canton, and in area school classrooms, the Museum serves over 200,000 children and families annually. It includes the UTC Wildlife Sanctuary, Travelers Science Dome at the Gengras Planetarium, extensive educational programs and school outreach, teacher professional development and a wide variety of activities for children, families and senior citizens. With support from the State of Connecticut and Town of West Hartford, the Museum is in the midst of exciting plans for relocation and expansion. For more information, visit its website
