Robinson+Cole Lawyer Appointed to Keney Park Sustainability Project Board of Directors

HARTFORD, CT (October 16, 2018) – The Keney Park Sustainability Project, an organization that helps families become more self-sustainable and environmentally conscious while preserving the historic Keney Park, has appointed Robinson+Cole lawyer Emily C. Deans to its Board of Directors.

Ms. Deans is a member of Robinson+Cole's Environmental, Energy + Telecommunications Group, and she represents clients in the areas of environmental, telecommunications, and utilities law. Ms. Deans represents clients such as telecommunications companies and commercial businesses before state regulatory agencies, including the Connecticut Public Utilities Regulatory Authority (PURA) and the Connecticut Siting Council, and local land use boards. She also monitors and reports on regulatory developments in the energy and utilities field throughout New England.

The goal of the Keney Park Sustainability Project is to support the development and sustainability of community-based food systems such as farmers markets, community gardens, school based gardening, agricultural project and home gardens. The organization also protects and preserves the 693 acre urban forest named Keney Park by providing individuals employable landscaping and forest management skills.
