Robinson+Cole's Health Law Group Makes ABA's Top List

Practice ranked seventh in the American Bar Association Health Law Section's Northeast Region Top 10 List

HARTFORD, CT (May 14, 2014) – The American Bar Association's (ABA) Health Law Section recognized Robinson+Cole's Health Law Group in its inaugural "Annual Regional Law Firm Recognition." The practice ranked seventh in the Top 10 list for the Northeast Region.

The regional lists were published in the ABA Health Law Section Voice of the Health Law Bar spring magazine. The Northeast region covers New York through Maine and Robinson+Cole was the only firm listed in Connecticut. The ABA's Health Law Section has more than 9,500 members, and the Top 10 list recognizes its member firms that had the largest number of lawyers in 2013.

Robinson+Cole's Health Law Group consists of a team of experienced health care lawyers trained to advise clients on meeting business objectives within the confines of a complicated legal and regulatory environment. The team comprises one of Connecticut's largest core groups of focused health care lawyers, supported by lawyers from the firm's corporate, finance, tax, tax-exempt organizations, emerging technologies, intellectual property, litigation, immigration, labor and employment, benefits, and real property practice areas. The team's extensive health law experience allows them to provide creative, sophisticated, and practical solutions to the problems facing a diverse health care community.

Robinson+Cole's Health Law Group has been ranked in Chambers USA: America's Leading Lawyers for Business in Connecticut since 2011, and the practice chair, Lisa M. Boyle, has been individually ranked as well. The Health Law Group has also achieved a first-tier metropolitan ranking in U.S. News & World Report – Best Lawyer's "Best Law Firms" list since 2010.
