Robinson+Cole Lawyers Accept Fellowships with National Construction Group

Gregory R. Faulkner and Dennis C. Cavanaugh invited to join the Construction Lawyers Society of America

HARTFORD, CT (June 27, 2017) – Robinson+Cole lawyers Gregory R. Faulkner and Dennis C. Cavanaugh have accepted fellowships with the Construction Lawyers Society of America (CLSA.) Mr. Faulkner is chair and Mr. Cavanaugh is a member of Robinson+Cole's Construction Group.

Mr. Faulkner has served as local, national, and international counsel in all aspects of construction law for over 25 years. He delivers a full-service approach to his practice, including selection of project delivery, preparation of bid documents, requests for proposals and qualifications, contract drafting, and negotiations. Mr. Faulkner also handles litigation in federal and state courts, as well as arbitration and mediation of all types of disputes. In addition to leading Robinson+Cole's Construction Group, Mr. Faulkner is a member of the firm's Managing Committee. He is also a past president of the Connecticut Building Congress.

Mr. Cavanaugh focuses his practice on construction and surety law, including transactional work and litigation. He has over 35 years of experience handling complex construction matters involving contract procurement, negotiation, financing, and commercial-related dispute resolution and litigation. Mr. Cavanaugh is a former chair of Robinson+Cole's Construction Group and the Connecticut Bar Association's Construction Law Section.

CLSA is an invitation-only construction lawyer honorary society with membership limited to 1,200 practicing Fellows from the United States and internationally. Fellows are selected and invited into Fellowship after being evaluated for effectiveness and accomplishment in construction law, along with ethical reputation.
