Noah Webster House & West Hartford Historical Society Appoints Robinson+Cole Lawyer to Board of Trustees

Labor and employment lawyer Devin M. Karas joins the board of local museum committed to preserving and sharing West Hartford history

HARTFORD, CT (August 9, 2016) – The Noah Webster House & West Hartford Historical Society (NWH & WHHS) has appointed Robinson+Cole associate Devin M. Karas to its Board of Trustees for a three-year term.

“We are delighted to welcome attorney Karas to the board of trustees,” said Jennifer DiCola Matos, executive director of NWH & WHHS. “Mr. Karas is a new home owner in West Hartford and is committed to the museum’s mission of preserving the town’s history. We are thrilled to have someone with his enthusiasm and skill set on our board.”

Each year, the Noah Webster House serves approximately 10,000 school children and thousands of visitors from around the world. The museum building includes the historic house, the Jodik Education Center, two exhibition galleries, the Visitor Reception Center, and the Hamilton Gallery. The museum holdings also include a diverse collection of decorative arts, manuscripts, books, and ephemeral artifacts related to Noah Webster as well as to the local community.

Mr. Karas focuses his practice at Robinson+Cole on employee benefits and executive compensation. He regularly advises clients on the design, implementation, compliance, and correction of employee benefit plans and executive compensation arrangements.
