Robinson+Cole Recognized as a 2022 Best Place to Work

Hartford Business Journal Honors Firm for High Employee Satisfaction

HARTFORD, CT (March 28, 2022) – Robinson+Cole is among the organizations selected for recognition by the Hartford Business Journal as 2022 Best Places to Work in Connecticut. The designation honors companies who rank highest in employee satisfaction as determined by a survey administered by third-party research firm, Best Companies Group. Robinson+Cole was honored during the annual Best Places to Work Awards presented on March 24, 2022, in Farmington, CT.

“Being recognized among the Best Places to Work in Connecticut is a reflection of the special community we’ve cultivated at the firm,” said Rhonda J. Tobin, Managing Partner, Robinson+Cole. “With our core values of collaboration, civility, and inclusion as our foundation, the firm focuses on supporting our employees through professional development, technology, and continuous communication. All of that, coupled with our commitment to a diverse, equitable, and inclusive culture enables us to provide the very best service to our clients and to our communities. But what really makes this the Best Place to Work is our people, who bring their best and work as a team each and every day.”

The 2022 Best Places to Work in Connecticut recognition is the latest in a series of “best” workplace honors the firm has received recently. This past fall, Robinson+Cole was named one of The Hartford Courant’s 2021 Top Workplaces—the only law firm to receive the distinction. In July, Robinson+Cole was ranked #12 among 50 law firms listed in the 2022 Best Law Firms to Work For category as part of Vault’s Law Firm Quality of Life Rankings. The firm was also ranked #1 for Integration of Laterals & Clerks, #2 for Technology & Innovation, #4 for Wellness, and #5 for Firm Culture and Associate/Partner Relations. Additionally, Robinson+Cole received a New York City Top Workplaces 2021 award by Schneps Media Top Workplaces and is listed among the top 20 businesses across New York City as published by amNY.

Participation in the Best Places to Work in Connecticut program required organizations to go through a comprehensive two-part workplace assessment process that consisted of an employer questionnaire about benefits, policies, practices, and other general information as well as a confidential employee engagement and satisfaction survey. Workplace experts at Best Companies Group performed an in-depth analysis of each company’s strengths and weaknesses to determine which should be selected for the Best Places to Work in Connecticut designation.
